

York's Pledge to Children and Young People in Care

City of York Council's commitment to children and young people in care, written by young people and endorsed by the Strategic Partnership for Looked After Children

Good placements for all children and young people.

We will help you to keep in contact with family and friends.

Your social worker will listen to you and respect you.

We will support and encourage your learning, education and training.

We will support you as an individual.

Review meetings will happen in a way that suits you best.

You will be made aware of your rights and choices.

We will support you to lead a healthy and happy life.

We will support your interests and help you to take part in activities.

We will support you with your move into adulthood.

You will be routinely asked by your Independent Reviewing Officer whether you feel the Council is keeping this promise to you. If not you can contact the Rights and Advocacy Service on 07769725174 and we will try and find out why this has happened and most importantly try to make sure things change for you.
